Graphic Story of the Capture of a Wouldhe Marderer at Midnight by ...

Sheriff W. B. Haskins, of Mississippi county, Ark., passed through the city yesterday in charge of Bill Lumley, who recently made an attack on Joseph G. Hudgins, of Mississippi county, that is likely to prove fatal. The history of the crime and the arrest is a remarkable and deeply interesting one. Hudgins is the second husband of a lady of that county who has been shot. Her first husband was George Brannon. In 1873, when he was going home in a wayon with Stephen A. Touchstone, the latter attempted to throw some meat out of the wagon which had been placed there by Brannon. When the latter remonstrated he was shot dead by Touchstone, who then placed his own pistol in the dead man's hand, to make it appear that he had committed suicide. Touchstone betrayed himself, however, by claiming the weapon when one of the deputy sheriffs started to appropriate it to his own use. He was jailed, but escaped, but Sheriff Haskins heard four years after that he was in the Bear Creek mountains of Alabama, and went after him. He located him in a log cabin in a wild place, and at midnight went to the house with a party of citizens. A boy named Fayette Norman was sent to knock at the door on pretense of wanting medicine for a dying mother, and when Touchstone in the property is the party of citizens.

Patrolman Chastaine succeeded vesterday in arresting Lassee, who was lodged in the stationreied gun. Touchstene reached wn to pick up his pistol from and kicked it under the bed. At Schmidt, and found a zither in the trunk the floor, but Haskins was too quick for him and kicked it under the bed. At this moment one of the Haskins men dropped w pint torch on the floor and another fired a shot. The floor caughtistical leaving him alone to secure his man and extinguish the fire. He did both successfully, and Touchstone was sentenced to seventeen years.

Brannon's widow afterward married Joseph G. Hudgins, who gave a barbecue on his farm, about twenty-five miles above Osceola, last July. A man named Bill Lindow with the barband was a seried from the floor and a search warrant, sworn out by Gus Schmidt, and found a zither in the trunk of Prof. H. Shiverall. Complainant and defendant had a limit that a limit the same had a limit that a limit the same had a limit that a limit to seventeen years.

Our popular contributor, "Mother Goose," in Sunday's Affreal, throws some light on the tantalizing mystery of "Kettledrums"—for which readers of the Affreal are grateful. Our public have for some time been suspecting that something novel was in preparation. The serious duty of providing for the poor is a little apt to become irksome to the average citizen and citogeone, and a discovery of the art of doing good gracefully and merrily deserves glad acclamations. An immense congerie of friendly tea-parties, with music and mirth, in the finest hall the city affords, is a happy inspiration, indeed. Then the military and antique flavor suggested by "dames" and "squiires" and marching—there! we promised not to tell! Well, this grizzled old Affraa only hopes some gracious dame will remember him when making up the favored circle for her table round. The annual charity ball in New out of the way of the wayons and people who were passing along the road. Saying this he turned from Lumley, who stood perfectly still, and before Hudgins had taken half a dozen steps drew his round. The annual charity ball in New York City is the social event of the great Mark City is the social event of the great metropolis, and it is gratifying, indeed, to find the society people of Memphis adopt-ing the fashion of being gay with gener-ous purpose one night during the season. With regard to the prospective Kettle-drum and its admirable intent, we must, for the present content oversleves with an ssion into his back. A number of perons, among them Tom Anderson, a constable, attempted to arrest Lumley, but he presented his pistol and threatened to kill any man who approached him. Bud Ursory called Haskins one side and engaged him in conversation while two outlaws, known as the Davis brothers, went up to Lumley and told him if he wanted to run to do it. Owens called Haskins and informed him of what was going on, and that brave officer quietly remarked that he had papers from his Governor for a man, that he had the man in his custody and he intended to hold on to him as long as he lived. His determined manner broke up the half-formed resolution of the mob, and he landed his prisoner safely in Memphis.

A representative of the APTAIN yesterday called upon Mr. J. F. Hunter, deputy calred of the Criminal Court, in order to ascertain the number of inquests held during the past year, and obtained a complete list, which will be found below. The cost of holding inquests is the heaviest in the list of the expenses of this court, the average for each being $7 30. Of this amount $5 goes to the magistrate who officiates, fifteen cents to the officer who summons the jury, twenty-five cents each for witnesses, and the remainder to the cent for the court for recording. The cost of his number Justice Fleming, held $0, Coroner Spelman 66, Elliott 28, Quigley 22, Mason 21, Galloway 5, Egnew 7, scattering 22. It is a remarkable fact that in not one single case have the investigations of juries of inquest aided in the prosecution of criminals. The outsiders who don't understand these things will be surprised at the long list of "mysterious" and bloody deaths.

ADDITIONAL RIVER NEWS. Gorges Below St. Louis. Sr. Louis, January 7.—Snow has faller here and throughout this region nearly all day and the temperature risen soveral degrees, get ting almost up to the freezing point. Ice in the river has gorged up at the bridge again, at Final Island, and in some other places between here and Sulphur Spriugs, 25 miles below the city. The steamers Centennial and Rob Royare hard aground at Liberty Island bar, 50 miles below here, but are in no great danger.

The Ohio Practically Closed. The Ohio Practically Closed.

CINCINNATI, January 7.—The Ohio river is practically closed. The Guiding Star, which left here Saturday for New Orleans, and the Charles Morgan, coming up, are expected to get through. There will be no boats going out. Towboats with coal from Pittsburg are making their way down slowly, or seeking safe harbors. Ice is now running thin and sharp, but heavy enough in some instances to make boats unmanageable. The ferryboat was caught to-day and carried down to the Southern railway bridge. The steamer Rebert Peebles, laid up above Newport, was beached this evening by a heavy mass of ice. The falling snow and low temperature forms ice rapidly. The coal men are engaged in carring for barges affoat. The harbor boats have steam up and are doing all they can to protect property. Loss is inevitable, but all the circumstances have been as favorable as possible to river craft. River Telegrams.

CINCINNATI, January 7.—Night—River 33 feet 2 inches, and falling. Weather cloudy and snowing. No boats moving. New Orleans, January 7.—Departed:
Golden Rule, Cineinnati. No arrivals. The
